The World of Wolves

Many people think that a wolf is a dangerous and aggressive animal.

In the fictional story "Little Red Riding Hood" the wolf ate the little girl's grandmother. He also tried to eat the little girl. The girl was afraid of the wolf. She was happy when a nice man came to save her. Many people think that if they see a wolf, the wolf will attack them. This is not true. Most wolves are afraid of people. They attack other, smaller animals. Small animals are the wolf's prey. The wolf in "Little Red Riding Hood" was alone. However, real wolves like to stay in packs. They hunt and live in a group. They do not live alone.
